Trip Itinerary

Day Wise Program

Day 01 — Antananarivo

Accommodation: Anatananarivo | Meals Included: Dinner

Arrival in Madagascar's hilltop capital, where terracotta houses climb the surrounding hills and rice paddies fill the valleys below. After airport formalities, transfer to the hotel and time to settle in.

Antananarivo—often called "Tana"—is the historic heart of the Merina kingdom and remains the political and cultural center of the island. The city spreads across a series of ridges and hills, offering sweeping views over the highlands and an introduction to Madagascar's distinctive architecture and lively urban atmosphere.

Day 02 — Antananarivo to Antsirabe

Accommodation: Antsirabe | Meals Included: Breakfast, Lunch & Dinner

Driving distance: ~170 km
Estimated transfer time: ~5 hours

The journey south begins along the famous RN7 highway, one of Madagascar's most scenic routes through the central highlands. The road passes terraced rice fields, traditional brick villages, and bustling roadside markets where farmers display seasonal fruits and vegetables.

Arrival in Antsirabe, a charming highland town known for its cool climate, wide avenues, and colonial heritage. Colorful pousse-pousse rickshaws move through the streets, while small artisan workshops produce handcrafted souvenirs and miniature vehicles made from recycled materials.

Day 03 — Antsirabe to Ranomafana National Park

Accommodation: Ranomafano | Meals Included: Breakfast, Lunch & Dinner

Driving distance: ~240 km
Estimated transfer time: ~6–7 hours

Today's drive continues through the fertile landscapes of the Betsileo region, known for its impressive rice terraces carved into the hillsides. The route passes through lively rural towns and the artisan center of Ambositra, renowned for traditional Malagasy wood carving.

As the journey progresses, the scenery gradually transforms into lush green hills and dense tropical forest. Arrival in Ranomafana, a small village nestled beside the rainforest and gateway to one of Madagascar's most biologically rich protected areas.

Day 04 — Exploration of Ranomafana National Park

Accommodation: Ranomafano | Meals Included: Breakfast & Dinner

A full day is devoted to discovering the remarkable biodiversity of Ranomafana National Park. Guided walks lead along forest trails shaded by tall bamboo groves, giant tree ferns, and dense tropical canopy.

The park is home to several species of lemurs, including the rare golden bamboo lemur first discovered in this region. Numerous birds, reptiles, frogs, and colorful insects inhabit the forest, while orchids and medicinal plants flourish in the humid environment, making the park one of Madagascar's most important conservation areas.

Day 05 — Ranomafana to Ranohira - Anja reserve - Isalo

Accommodation: Isalo | Meals Included: Breakfast, Lunch & Dinner

Driving distance: ~300–330 km
Estimated transfer time: ~7–8 hours

Departure from the rainforest region of Ranomafana National Park and journey south through the Betsileo highlands toward the drier landscapes of southern Madagascar. The road passes the historic town of Fianarantsoa and continues through fertile valleys and traditional villages where terraced rice fields shape the surrounding hillsides.

Near the town of Ambalavao, a short stop is made at the celebrated Anja Community Reserve. This small community-managed forest sanctuary is well known for its thriving population of ring-tailed lemurs that inhabit the granite outcrops and woodland valleys of the reserve. A brief guided walk offers the opportunity to observe these charismatic lemurs in their natural habitat while also supporting one of Madagascar's most successful local conservation initiatives.

The journey continues south across increasingly arid terrain where grasslands and rocky hills dominate the landscape. By late afternoon, arrival in Ranohira, the small frontier town located at the entrance to Isalo National Park.

Day 06 — Exploration of Isalo National Park

Accommodation: Isalo | Meals Included: Breakfast & Dinner

Today is dedicated to exploring the spectacular landscapes of Isalo National Park, one of Madagascar's most visually striking natural areas. The park is famous for its sculpted sandstone massifs, deep canyons, and hidden valleys formed by centuries of erosion.

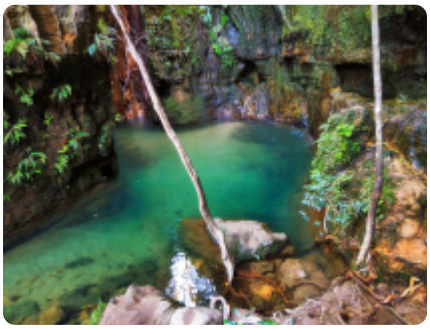

Guided walks lead through narrow gorges and palm-lined streams to natural pools where clear water gathers beneath towering cliffs. Ring-tailed lemurs and sifakas are often seen among the rocks, while the vast open landscapes provide sweeping views across the southern plateau.

Day 07 — Ranohira to Ifaty (via Toliara)

Accommodation: Ifaty | Meals Included: Breakfast & Dinner

Driving distance: ~240 km
Estimated transfer time: ~5–6 hours

The journey continues southwest through the arid landscapes of southern Madagascar. The road passes dry savannah and sparse forests where baobabs and hardy vegetation dominate the scenery.

Arrival in the coastal region near Toliara, followed by a short drive north to the seaside village of Ifaty. Located along the turquoise waters of the Mozambique Channel, the area is known for its tranquil beaches and the maritime traditions of the Vezo fishing communities.

Majestic Grandmother Fony baobab, (Adansonia rubrostipa), Oldest part of the tree an estimated 1,600 years old. Tsimanampetsotsa national park. Madagascar wilderness landscape.

Day 08 — Ifaty

Accommodation: Ifaty | Meals Included: Breakfast & Dinner

A relaxed day along the tranquil coast of Ifaty, a small fishing village overlooking the warm waters of the Mozambique Channel. The area is known for its peaceful beaches and the maritime traditions of the Vezo people, whose wooden pirogues sail the lagoon in search of the day's catch.

Optional excursions may be arranged to explore the nearby Reniala Spiny Forest Reserve, one of the best places to experience Madagascar's remarkable spiny forest ecosystem. Guided walks through this unique habitat reveal a striking landscape of baobabs, octopus trees, thorny shrubs, and drought-adapted plants found nowhere else on earth. The reserve is also home to several endemic bird species, reptiles, and small lemurs that inhabit this arid coastal forest.

Traditional wooden sailing canoes can often be seen returning from the sea with the day's catch, reflecting the centuries-old maritime culture of the Vezo people. The nearby lagoon and reefs also support a rich variety of marine life.

Day 09 — Tulear - Antananarivo

oad transfer: Ifaty → Toliara
Driving distance: ~27 km
Estimated transfer time: ~45 minutes

Morning transfer from Ifaty to the airport in Toliara for the domestic flight to Antananarivo. Upon arrival in the capital, transfer to the hotel.

Later in the day, time is set aside to explore local markets and specialty shops in Antananarivo, where Madagascar's renowned agricultural products can be found. The island is famous for producing some of the world's finest vanilla, along with aromatic spices and gourmet products derived from locally grown cocoa. Visitors often enjoy browsing stalls offering handcrafted chocolates, spices, and other Malagasy delicacies that reflect the country's rich agricultural heritage.

Pink Pepper:
Madagascar is one of the world's principal sources of pink pepper, the dried berry of the Schinus tree. Although commonly used as a spice, it is not a true pepper like black or white pepper. The berries have a delicate aroma and a mildly sweet, slightly fruity flavor that enhances seafood, salads, and gourmet dishes. Their vibrant pink color also makes them a popular decorative ingredient in culinary presentations.
